

Bluom — UGC Creative Brief

Performance Pilot Program (English)

What Bluom is

Bluom is a women's health & wellness app that helps people build sustainable daily habits — not a weight-loss app, not a fitness-influencer app. Core features include a wellness tracker, a women's health tracker (cycle-aware), a daily to-do/habit list, a focus tool, and a recipes library. The brand voice is calm, supportive, and realistic — think 'small consistent habits' rather than 'hustle' or 'transformation.' This fits creators whose audience values gentle, sustainable self-care over intense fitness content.

Tone & do-not-list

Please avoid: before/after framing, specific weight-loss numbers or claims, 'metabolic booster' or 'fat burning' language, diet-culture guilt messaging, or comparing Bluom to medications/weight-loss drugs. Lean into: honesty about busy/imperfect routines, small wins, feeling more in control of your day, and a 'no-guilt' tone consistent with your own content style.

Content angles (pick any that fit your life)

- Wellness tracker — 'my actual daily reset'
A day-in-the-life or 'what's on my phone' style video showing how you use the wellness tracker to check in with yourself (sleep, water, mood, movement) without it feeling like a chore. Emphasize realistic, non-perfect routines — this is not a fitness-tracking app.
- Women's health tracker — 'finally, an app that gets it'
Show how you use the cycle/women's health tracker to understand your own patterns (energy, mood, symptoms) through the month. Great for a homesteading/motherhood audience because it's about self-knowledge, not performance.
- To-do / habit list — 'how I keep my day from falling apart'
A relatable 'mom of X kids' or 'running a homestead' video about using the to-do/habit list to keep track of the basics on chaotic days — feeding animals, garden, kids, meals — without needing a complicated productivity system.
- Focus tool — 'my 10 minutes before the day starts'
A calm, low-key video about using the focus tool for a short grounding moment before the household wakes up — coffee, journaling, or quiet time framing rather than 'productivity hacking.'
- Recipes — 'simple, real-food recipes I actually use'
Show the recipes feature alongside your own from-scratch cooking style — this is the most natural crossover with your existing content and audience.

Deliverables & format

1 vertical video (Reels-style), 30–60 seconds, filmed in your natural style (no studio look, no script read to camera). Voiceover or on-camera talking is both fine. Please show the app screen naturally in at least one moment (screen recording or phone-in-hand is fine).

Compensation

This program pays 12% of purchase value generated from your content, paid weekly, tracked through Trybe. There is no flat upfront fee at this stage — commission accrues once content is approved and used in ads or organic placements.